WELCOME TO SBC-USST

The University of Shanghai for Science and Technology (USST) is a key multidisciplinary applied research-oriented university in China. SBC is located in Fuxing Road Campus, which is one of the most fascinating areas in downtown Shanghai. SBC was fully licensed as a joint venture institute by the Ministry of Education

Established in 1906, USST is a high-level institution of higher education in Shanghai.

Meanwhile, the college became a member of EFMD in 2023.

CAMPUS LIFE

As a major historical site protected at the national level, SBC campus lies on one of the most prestigious blocks in Shanghai which represents the intersections of ancient and modern, as well as western and eastern styles of cultures. With sycamore trees giving shades from the sunlight, the streets here are home to both historical architectures that bears over hundreds of years of histories and one of the busiest areas in this metropolis with skyscrapers, city malls, restaurants and all.

SBC's campus was where the German Medical and Engineering School was once located, and has 7 Prussian-style buildings with a century of history, of which the Engineering Hall (now the Library of SBC) is honoured as "the symbol of Prussian-style architecture in China". Through researching and inheriting the history of this campus, we have bestowed these historical architecture with new functions and connotations, aiming at "meandering through the campus, making architecture readable, and creating a tangible culture".

SBC's campus is an oasis of calm in the busy Centre of Shanghai, with a mixture of historic and modern architecture, first class facilities for teaching including seminar rooms, lecture theatres, laboratories and centre for creative leadership. All students are provided with on-campus accommodation, convenient public transport, shopping, restaurants and cultural activities. USST's main campus on Jungong Road is easily accessible by public transportation.

Join our friendly and diverse community of over 1,900 students. We've been welcoming international students for over 19 years, offering experienced help and support. It's probably why we're one of the most popular destinations in Shanghai for international students.

CITY LIFE

Shanghai, a municipality directly under the central government of China, is a modern international metropolis with a spirit of inclusiveness, pursuit of excellence, broad-mindedness, and humility.

Located at the estuary of the Yangtze River in East China and facing the Pacific Ocean, Shanghai forms part of the Yangtze River Delta, one of China's most robust, open and innovative regions.

As China's largest economic powerhouse and an important international financial center, Shanghai achieved a GDP of 4.72 trillion yuan in 2023, up 5 percent year-on-year.

Shanghai is known as "The Pearl of Asia" and "The Paris of the East".

Shanghai is also a leading international trade and consumption center, with its ports' total throughput the highest in the world.

Shanghai is an important global shipping center and an open hub. The city is also making significant progress in building an international science and technology innovation center. Shanghai is developing toward an internationally influential digital city, strengthening the foundational support for urban digital transformation.

Shanghai is also a world-renowned cultural metropolis and international travel destination, with 239 public libraries, 162 museums and 100 art galleries by the end of 2023. The city's transport system is becoming more efficient, with its metro network reaching 831 kilometers.

Shanghai has a subtropical maritime monsoon climate, meaning high humidity and lots of rain. Hot muggy summers, cool falls, cold winters with little snow, and warm springs are the norm. Midsummer through early fall is the best time to visit Shanghai. From June through October, the city experiences the sunniest days of the year. Summers have temperatures in the 90s°F (32°C+) and high humidity levels.
